

Social Distancing Doesn't Mean You Are Alone!

TEAM
KENTUCKY

Due to novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19), many of us are in our homes or practicing social distancing policies intended to keep us safe and stop the spread of infectious disease. We realize that home is not always the safest place for individuals experiencing violence or social isolation. A number of organizations are available to offer assistance and help for anyone who might need counseling, assistance, or a safe place for themselves and their children. We are working together to find solutions - while keeping Kentuckians safe and healthy.
